Arguably the most recognised male swimmer of his generation. Representing his country for 23 years, Mark became Britain's most decorated male swimmer after winning a record 47 major international medals. Mark's post swimming career has seen him reinvent himself as a renowned broadcaster and successful motivational speaker.

Mark has enjoyed a high-profile TV career, a fixture on BBC's coverage of the Olympics, and swimming in general. He enjoyed a memorable stint on Strictly Come Dancing, and is a regular participant on various other shows. 2016 has seen him launch his own range of swimwear, with respected brand Zone3. He invests a huge amount of time leading and inspiring the next generation of young swimmers, running his own successful grassroots clinics.

Mark is a regular participant on Countdown, A Question of Sport, Come Dine with Me, Celebrity MasterChef as well as a host of other charity shows and campaigns.
